DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The expression "said LCD support panel" (claim 1) has no definite antecedent basis in the claims. Claim(s) 1, and 14 fail(s) to recite sufficient structural elements and interconnection of the elements to positively position and define: 1) the support panel open in an upright position) ; 2) extension of the input device platform (with respect to?); 3) how the LCD and mercury switch automatically applies power upon the panel attaining an open position (claim 7) so that an integral structure able to function as claimed is recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, 4, 5, 8, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Price, Jr. et al. The patent to Price, Jr. et al teaches structure as claimed including a workstation adapted to support a flat panel display, comprising a foundation, a work surface (4) fixedly attached to the foundation and defined by an aperture, a display support panel movably mounted in (fig. 4) the aperture, an input device platform (24) movably attached to a side of the work surface, a lever mechanism coupled between the input device platform and the support panel for automatically moving the support panel open and to an upright position upon extension of the input device platform, and for automatically moving the support panel to a closed position upon retraction of the input device platform, lock (102).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2, 6, 9, 10, 11, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Price, Jr. et al. The patent to Price, Jr et al teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including pivot shafts, bearing structure, roller brackets, damping structure, the only difference being the position of the structures and the use of bearing blocks. However, the use of such structure, are well known and commercially available. Applicant is given judicial notice of such. To use such structures, such as bearing blocks, telescoping brackets, electronic locks such as those used in drawers structures and safes would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art since such structures are used in the same intended well known purpose.

Claims 14-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Price, Jr. et al as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Lechman ('401). The patent to Price, Jr. et al teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including a workstation, the only difference being that a plurality of stations are not used together. However, the patent to Lechman teaches the use of providing a plurality of workstations connected to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Price, Jr. et al to include a plurality of workstations, as taught by Lechman since such structures are conventional and well known thereby providing structure as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

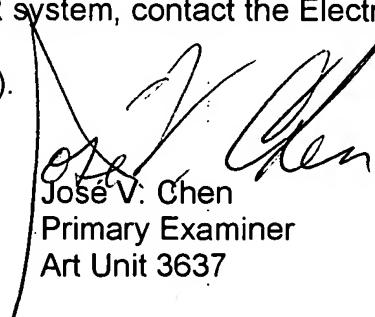

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lechman et al, Yavitz et al, Wegman et al, Lechman ('594)Feierbach, Rogov, Wolters et al, Schairbaum, Watson, Roberts et al, Yanagisawa et al, Jyringi, Nevin, Kolavo, Rauls teach structure similar to applicant's.
